

Dear Editors and Reviewers:

We would like to confirm that, compared with our BIBM 2017 proceeding paper, this extended journal version has at least 75% new contents.

All sections were significantly extended, detailed as follows.

[Background]

We added seven papers into the background literature and gave a thorough discussion on our research background as well as related work.

[Methods]

We described all steps in our methods with significantly greater details. In particular, the MeSH-term filtering mechanisms were explained in detail along with a new figure.

[Results and Discussion]

We added greater details of results obtained from our methods, including detailed explanation and discussion in text, two new figures, and five new tables. In addition, we also conducted effectiveness and efficiency analysis in the OmniSearch software and reported these results.

[Conclusions]

We enriched this section by adding details of our plan for future work.

Best,

Jingshan Huang on behalf of all authors